Welcome

As your Hosts for the 2007 Latin America Emerging Markets Forum, we wish to extend a very warm welcome to you—our distinguished participants—and thank you for taking time from your busy schedules to join us here in Montevideo.

This Latin American initiative will allow us to look deeper into the economic and social challenges facing this continent. It will further reinforce the role of our Forum as a bridge that connects emerging market economies in different regions of the world.

The pressing issues that will be discussed are inclusive economic growth, national, regional and international financial markets and public-private partnerships for regional infrastructure development. The intended outcome of this forum is to find effective solutions and approaches towards these issues and to pursue them within our capacity.

This forum provides a unique opportunity for us to explore these challenges through informal and honest engagements with each other's ideas. The success of the Forum rests with each of us. The degree to which we each openly engage in the sessions and participate in shaping the outcomes will critically determine success.

We have high expectations that the dialogue we shall share here will lead to a high degree of convergence on the crux of the issues, the relative priorities and the likely solutions. We very much hope you will find the debates stimulating, the company of your fellow participants—both in and out of meeting rooms—congenial and productive and that you will, at the end of the meeting, consider the three days spent in Montevideo well worth your time and effort.

It is our great pleasure to welcome you to Montevideo.

A Note about Candor, Confidentiality and Communications

An important measure of this Forum's success is the extent to which it produces actionable conclusions. We realize that such conclusions will depend in part upon the candor of our debates and, in turn, that your willingness to be candid will depend on the extent to which the debates take place in a secure and confidential environment. We want to stress that nothing said in any discussion will under any circumstances be attributed to any individual.

We will have done our part to facilitate openness and ask you to do the same. The structure of this Forum is unique: there will be neither speeches nor PowerPoint presentations in the Sessions; Authors will be present, but only to respond to the conversation; Session Chairs will be brief in their remarks, and the Chairs and Discussants together will give just enough input to stimulate our conversation. The design is informal with the expectation that this will generate lively exploration and exchange of ideas on tough issues, among peers, and will conclude with action-oriented outcomes. The guidelines are simple: no prepared remarks; observe the Camdessus Code of "Conversation not Monologue"; and share your thinking and your solutions.

Now, assuming that our conclusions lead to actionable propositions, we shall want to share them with larger audiences. We are taking two steps to allow us to do this without jeopardizing candor or confidentiality. We want you to know about these steps.

First, proceedings of the meeting will be taken. He/She will attend the Forum and will record the proceedings, for accuracy only. The recordings will not be used for any other purpose. We intend to publish this account on the EMF website. He/She account will also be the basis for a press release about the Forum. As promised, nothing said on the website or in the press release will be attributed to any individual.

Second, we have invited a number of media representatives, to join the Forum with a view to writing about it. Again, they have all agreed to observe the rule that nothing said in our debates will be attributed to any individual.

The 2007 "Class" Photo: We are arranging for a Forum group photograph. We have also arranged for a photographer to take pictures throughout the Forum. These pictures will be mementos for your personal use; we may use them in future EMF brochures, but for no other purpose.

We hope that you will find these arrangements satisfactorily consistent with our commitment to protect your privacy and ensure the confidentiality of our proceedings.

Uruguay And Montevideo

Uruguay is the second-smallest country in South America and the landscape features mostly rolling plains and low hills (cuchilla) with a fertile coastal lowland; most of it grassland, ideal for cattle and sheep raising. The highest point in the country is the Cerro Catedral at 514 m. To the southwest is the Rio de la Plata (Silver River), the estuary of the Uruguay River that forms the western border, and the Parana River, that does not run through Uruguay itself. The only other major river is the Rio Negro and several lagunes are found along the Atlantic coast.

The climate in Uruguay is temperate, but fairly warm as freezing temperatures are almost unknown. The predominantly flat landscape is also somewhat vulnerable to rapid changes from weather fronts, as well as to the pampero, a chilly and occasionally violent wind blowing north from the pampas plains in Argentina.

(taken from spanishcourses.com)

Montevideo, the capital, contains more than half of Uruguay's population. Located on the River Plate, which has been one of the essential elements for the development of the territory, Montevideo is also the country's natural trading centre. It is a delight for lovers of culture. Museums, theatres, exhibitions, shows, popular feasts, there is an intense agenda all year round and the city itself is a collection of art and history.

Montevideo

Montevideo is the very lively capital of Uruguay. It is a stylish city with a strong European feel to it. The city was founded in 1726 on a promontory between the Rio del Plata and an inner bay; this area is still known as the Ciudad Vieja and is the area of main interest for visitors. The heart of the old city beats on the Plaza de la Constitucion. On one side is the Catedral with the historic Cabildo, opposite is the Museo Historico Nacional. On the south side is a quite unusual fountain dating from 1881 with an inscription in Spanish that contains a few spelling errors. Just west along the Calle Rincon is the Plaza Zabala with a monument to the founder of the city: Bruno Mauricio de Zabala. Three blocks north of here and you are in the docks, three blocks south and you are on the rambla Francia, on the Rio del Plata. Going east from here via the pedestrianized Calle Sarandi, you enter the new city after crossing the Plaza de la Independencia. This is the biggest Plaza of the city. On it you will find the mausoleum of Artigas, the Casa de Gobierno Historico and the Palacio Salvo. East from here the Avenida 18 Julio takes you to the Tres Cruces Bus Terminal. Other places of interest are the coastline of white sand beaches, that are almost along the whole city.
